

UNCLE SAM HELPS HUNT FOR CLARA

Los Angeles District Attorney's Office Joins Hands With Sheriff

NEW CLUE IS FOUND

"The Mouse," Convict at San Quentin, to Be Questioned on "Gang's Movement"

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—The district attorney's office joined hands with the sheriff's office today in an exhaustive investigation of Clara Phillips' daring escape from the county jail, when Chief Deputy District Attorney A. A. Keyes and Under-Sheriff Eugene Biscailus questioned several persons who are thought to have important information on her get-away.

Alma Smith, negress, who occupied the cell next to Mrs. Phillips, was "sweated" at the jail and cross-examined on her story that she knew nothing of the "tiger girl's" escape. Ols and Rita May Weaver, sisters of Mrs. Phillips, and Madalynne Obenchain were to be questioned before the day was over, the officers said.

A letter signed "Clara Phillips" was received at the sheriff's office today, but deputies regard the work of a practical joker.

The letter read:

"I want to tell you a few of your weak points. Am still in Los Angeles and expect to stay until you start to catch on where I am.

"I thank you very much for your compliment, but you have the wrong idea of my place of abode. You may tell Perry that she had better watch her step as she told you a big lie. I got a great 'kick' out of your idea of my airplane trip, ha, ha!

"Well, I'm going to close. Hoping you won't be the same about me.

"Yours truly,

(Signed) "CLARA PHILLIPS."

It was learned that Sheriff Tracer plans to question Guido Spignola, alias "The Mouse," at San Quentin prison on his trip north. Spignola's former gang is suspected of having given Mrs. Phillips aid in escaping.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—Expressing the belief that important developments would come from the questioning of Guido Spignola, alias "The Mouse," that might lead to the capture of Clara Phillips, escaped "hammer murderer," Sheriff William I. Tracer of Los Angeles, arrived here today to personally direct a search for clues to her whereabouts.

While Sheriff Tracer followed a mysterious "lead" in San Francisco, Deputy District Attorney Costello and Deputy Sheriff Gilbert Blaisdell were at San Quentin prison questioning Spignola. "The Mouse," as Spignola was known in the Los Angeles underworld, was in prison at the same time Mrs. Phillips was awaiting trial and is said to have become infatuated with her.

Spignola, in collaboration with Rev. Herbert Wilson, staged an escape recently from the same jail that Mrs. Phillips "broke out" of and it is believed that Spignola's gang had some hand in aiding in her escape and get-away.

Made Remarkable Recovery Was Absolutely Helpless—Interesting Case of Mr. E. E. McCoy

Since establishing institutions in the southwest the Inter-State Doctors have certainly made a record to be proud of in the handling of difficult diseases. Practically every case that has come to them has been treated many times before. Some at the great eastern institutions, many have visited the different springs and others have been treated by the best physicians in their own community.

The following letter from Mr. McCoy is of particular interest:

Coffeyville, Kan., June 6, 1922.

In February, 1920, I suffered from a stroke of paralysis while at Eureka Springs, Ark. I was constantly treated at different institutions and by different physicians and made some improvement. In October of 1921 I suddenly began getting worse and got so that I could not use either of my arms or limbs and could not articulate or speak so that I could be understood. I had to be kept in a darkened room as I could not stand the light. On December 1 of that year my wife took me to the Inter-State Doctors and by March I was able to take a twenty-mile automobile drive, and at this time have perfect use of my limbs, eyesight and all my faculties. I certainly appreciate what has been done for me.

E. E. MCCOY,
1105 South Willow Street.

The doctors have made a special study of all intravenous (direct blood stream) methods. They combine with these all known serums, bacterins and other forms of nature. They are prepared to administer the genuine French #14. Not the least of their success is due to their facilities for examination and correct diagnosis.

The diseases treated are all chronic diseases of the blood, nerves, stomach, including goiter, gall stones, catarrh, rheumatism, etc.

Many have been cured in one office treatment (such as varicose and other enlargements).

The Tulsa offices are at suite 218-219 Security Bldg., corner Second and Main.

Office hours are 9 to 5, evening 7 to 8. Sundays 10 to 12 only.—Advertisement.

As George Ade Says, There Is a Moral in This Story, Read It

This is a true story.

A young man in a belted brown overcoat and a cap that inclined a bit to his left eye swung down Fourth street towards Main yesterday afternoon. The said left eye and also his right were focused firmly upon a trim-looking figure that tripped along just ahead of him. The blue suit had an intriguing little line of scarlet in it; mole-skin fur swathed the girl's neck up to the cocky little black hat-brim and neat little black boots topped with scarlet tapped the sidewalk smartly. The youth eagerly hastened his steps a bit and veered a little closer to the girl. Possibly to keep out the cold she turned her head and snuggled a little deeper into her fur. The boy grinned.

As the two reached the First National Bank corner the girl stood hesitating for a moment. An ingratiating smile upon his face, an expectant look in his eyes, his hand upon the bill of his cap, the boy turned so as to face her. Then the smile froze on his face. His arm in the air, he stood open mouthed, dazed. The girl shrugged her shoulders and passed on down the street, smiling on her chocolate colored face.

QUIET GRIPS DUBLIN

Valera Is Expected to Denounce Execution of Rebel Chiefs

By International News Service.

DUBLIN, Dec. 9.—Dublin was comparatively quiet today. Summary execution of "Rory" O'Connor and three other republican irregular chiefs together with the Free State threat of further executions, gave at least a temporary setback to the republicans' plans for counter reprisal violence.

Eamonn de Valera, who is in hiding, is expected to issue a public announcement, bearing upon the "republican" executions of O'Connor and the others.

Great military precautions have been taken to guard the lives of Free State officials and government property. The Free State government policy was announced as follows by William T. Cosgrave of the daily Irishman:

"There is only one way to crush the conspiracy of assassinations that is by striking terror into the hearts of the conspirators."

Details of the execution leaked out today. The firing squad composed mostly of young soldiers, who were so nervous their aim was bad. Liam Mellows was not killed at the first volley and a second had to be fired.

EDUCATIONAL DAY WITH CITY CLUB

Legion Officer, School Principal and Glee Clubs Take Part

It was Educational day Saturday with the City club of Tulsa, each and every phase of the day's program having something to do with Educational week. President John R. Hadley facetiously referred to this being a period of "week's" adding that there were so many of these "weeks" that it had become necessary to abbreviate them into "days" in order that each and every movement had an opportunity to be properly set forth.

John W. Ladner, an attorney and member of Joe Carson post, American Legion, set forth at length the aims and motives of the legion. He said that a survey of past history showed that education had accomplished much, and forecasts predicted that education would make wars of the future more and more of a scientific struggle, than they had been heretofore.

Wars, he said, were almost wholly the result of misunderstandings due to ignorance, and if the educational movement could be made an international matter, he felt that it would eventually eliminate this condition and bring about universal esteem and regard.

J. H. Brown, principal of the Irving school, went into great detail as to reasons for an educational movement in the country. He reviewed steps that had been taken and outlined briefly, plans for bettering the school system of the nation.

At the invitation of Mr. Brown, the glee club from Irving school and the boys glee club of Lincoln school, sang for the club, giving two numbers together and two each separately. Members of the Irving glee club: Mary Keith, Marie Burns, Jennie Kessler, Violet Brown, Gertrude Wilson, Lottie Dunlap, Pauline Sutherland, Jennie Moore, and Virginia Hermon.

The Lincoln club boys: Junior Conn, Frank Watkins, Theodore Kubesky, James McLaughlin, Billy

Hero of Tulsa Race Riot Headliner at Orpheum Starting Today

Bob Murphy was a government agent for six years. It is said that experience of any sort is valuable and Murphy's experience was undoubtedly valuable to the citizens of Tulsa. Mr. Murphy was in Tulsa at the time of the recent race drive. The situation was critical and the chief of police knowing of Murphy's government experience, looked him up and asked him if he would not assume command of the hastily commandeered police force. This he did and as the result of Miss Dorothy Demaree, a sophomore at Central high school, acted as emcee.

Miss Maude Wall, teacher of music at Irving and Lincoln schools, directed both clubs. One of the special features was the singing of the Lincoln school song, by the boys. This song was composed by Miss Wall. The two clubs' feature number was the Oklahoma state song. Alone the girls sang "Evening Song," and "True Happiness."

HELD IN MURDER AFTER DROWNING

Draftsman Accused of Killing Friend; Says He Loved Wife

DETROIT, Dec. 9.—Howard H. Mendell, 42, a draftsman, was arrested today on a charge of first-degree murder which followed investigation of the circumstances under which his chum, Roland M. Morgan, 33, meteorologist and head of the Congressional Boy Scout troop was supposedly drowned while in swimming with Mendell last August.

The sheriff asserts that disinterment of Morgan's body indicated the lungs free from water and established the presence of a large bruise on the head.

Morgan took Mendell swimming with him at the scout camp on the Kawkawin river August 9, as he had often done before. The pair had been inseparable friends for 12 years.

After splashing around a few minutes Mendell rushed back to the caretaker's cabin and reported that
